The mosquito campaign has begun and plans are being made to exterminate the pest here and at the beach. At a recent town council meeting it was planned that the state would appropriate $150 and the town of Westerly $150 and the shore resorts the balance. Thomas Gonsky who has charge of the work has about 250 gallons of oil which has been used in spraying the breeding places between Watch Hill and Watchpoint. Mummychugs will be put in the ponds to destroy the skeeters.

Potted plants will be used this year instead of loose flowers as formerly. The corps has done a great deal of good work since its organization.

The Lorraine Mfg. Company has let the contract for building several houses on lower Mechanic street and Filled Court to a Pawtucket contractor, who will build the frame work at once. This concern has built many homes for those employed at the mill, many having done away with many of the old houses which were located on Mechanic street when they built the large addition to their mill.

The cottages and boarding houses are all taken and more places are to be built to accommodate more of the help. Work has been brisk during the present year, a larger output has been made than for some time past and the mill has been running steadily throughout the year.

Westerly people are employed here and many hundreds are furnished work. Orders are reported coming in steadily. On and after June 1st work at the mill will be increased and the mill will be kept running on full time. At present only a few departments are working.

Today (Friday) the Westerly High school baseball team will go to Stonington and play Stonington High school.

The Westerly highway department is at work this week repairing Elm street, where all the Watch Hill traffic comes in the summer. It is understood that this department is not hiring any union men, on any of the work on the highway, because of the fact that they belong to a body which allowed them to uphold strikers in Stonington, where they were willing to work on the jobs while they were on strike during the past two months. The sewer work is at a standstill and the contractors released from their contract were not wholly satisfied again to be taken up has not been determined, but probably work on the sewer will not be underway this summer at least, as the streets are being put in shape at the highway department where left rough by the sewers being put in.

JEWETT CITY

A meeting of the stockholders of the Jewett City Trust company was held at 10 a. m. Thursday in the banking rooms of the company in the Rouse block. It was the most important meeting, directly controlling local financial matters, that was ever held in Jewett City. April 22 the president, both vice presidents and the secretary and treasurer, together with the entire local membership of the board of directors, offered their resignations, which were accepted. The reasons given for these resignations was that the local management was not wholly satisfied with the procedure and policies of the New York control. This control existed only by the scant margin of two shares. The next day, after this not altogether unforeseen shakeup, the bank stemmed a run upon its deposit accounts to the tune of over $100,000. The deposits at that time would doubtless have been cleaned out but for the fact that there was apparently no end to the currency in sight. Since that time the business of the bank has been as nothing, the comparison appearing in sharper figures, because compared with the first three weeks, when deposits often ran as high as $40,000 in a single day. At the meeting held Thursday morning the New York-controlled stock was taken over by local people, so that now the Jewett City Trust company is home-owned and home-controlled. In taking up the offer of Thursday the New York people virtually accepted conditions of transfer which they so decidedly turned down less than a month ago. The Bulletin correspondent learned that the meeting was not of the stormy order, also that in relinquishing the control of stock held by them the New York holders stand to suffer no appreciable loss. The meeting spelled the difference between existence and liquidation, and there were none present who were not possessed of a full realization of that current fact. Now it is the plan to hold a meeting next Monday, at which time it will be in order to accept the resignations of the naming officials that have been in charge of the bank since April 24. There will also be an election, and all-round reorganization, a president, two vice presidents and secretary and treasurer will be chosen, also a new board of directors. It is confidently believed in local financial circles that there will be no change in the personnel of the officers who at first so successfully and satisfactorily operated the new institution. The bank has survived its passing trouble, has never once repudiated its paper or questioned evidence of deposits. Finally, it is an urgent need in Jewett City, and no doubt exists that its rehabilitation will stand for other than benefit.

Sidney A. Brown, sheriff of New London county, appointed Wednesday John T. Dolan of this place as deputy sheriff. Mr. Dolan is a native of Jewett City, was graduated from the Riverside grammar school and from the Norwich Business college. He was night patrolman for two and one-half years.

A large number of the friends of the late Walter B. Crooks whose home was in Jewett City were in Norwich Wednesday to attend his funeral services. Notable among the floral remembrances was the token from the Ashbrook office force in Jewett City, where Mr. Crooks was beloved as an associate worker and a friend.

The first rain in two weeks came copiously Thursday and was equally welcomed by home gardeners and forest fire fighters.

Everything is set for the opening of the Eastern Connecticut league Sunday. Danielson will be the attraction at Ashland park, and Manager Bill Reddy is coming down strong with a big crowd of rooters in an endeavor to take Ashland into camp. Big Bill Martin, well known to local fans, will do the pitching for Danielson. Manager Chase of the local team is confident that his collection of ball tossers are fast enough to compete with anything in the league, with three pitchers to draw from in the opening game.

Edwards, a college man, may be selected, though Bogue, a left hander, has been pitching sensational ball this season. Spike Liberte is rounding into form gradually, but is hardly fit to go the distance now in the opening game.

With Leclair, Chase, Whitney, Nap Liberte and Brown to pick for the infield, and Jarvis, Pete Rall, Benjamin and Proulard looking for a place in the outfield, the team as a whole will play well. Proulard is a newcomer and is sure of a place in the opening game. This boy is a left-hand hitter and is a flash on the bases.

Marchand and Stevenson are both slated to appear for the catcher's berth and both are fine prospects, but with the return of Bill Liberte they will probably be placed with some other club, where their talents will be watched by the local management.

Dan Mara, old-time pitcher has been secured to do the umpiring. Doc Thompson, who fathered the league, will be on hand to look out the first ball. Everything looks good for a banner season and arrangements are being made to handle a big crowd.

Schedules of the league games will be given out at the opening game through the generosity of a local merchant. Another merchant offers a pair of shoes to the first local player hitting a homer.

Manager Chase received a letter from Bill Liberte Thursday stating that he would be on hand for the big opening Sunday against Danielson. Bill has made a fine showing with Hartford and Manager Coffey is trying to persuade Bill to join the Ludington team of the Central league.

DISCOURSES ON TARIFFS

Washington, May 18—Asserting that senate republicans, or most of them, had decided to accept the pending tariff bill as reported by the finance committee, Senator Underwood declared today in the senate that he wanted the record on the measure so clear that this would be the issue in the fall campaign and that the people could pass judgment on the bill.

"They (the republicans) are not going to consider the various items as presented," Senator Underwood said, "and the only jury to which we (the democrats) can appeal is the jury that must pay the taxes."

The minority leader was discussing a paragraph in the bill dealing with duties on pigments for paints. He said this was one of the items that the people could understand and that it could be made clear that the only purpose was to "build up a tariff wall to increase the profits of the producers."

"It has been stated repeatedly here is the debate on this bill that the taxes on the various items in this chemical schedule were so small that the people would not feel them. This tax does come home to the people. It comes to the home itself."

Senator Underwood said the duties proposed could not be justified from a standpoint of revenue or because the industry could not exist without them; as the producers had prospered under much lower rates. He called attention that in 1920 exports of finished paints amounted to $25,000,000, while imports total only $3,000,000, and added:

"I suppose that $2,000,000 out of $25,000,000 is to keep that $2,000,000 out of $25,000,000."

Its Exclusive Motor Proves Its Excellence

CLEVELAND SIX

The individual style and unusual beauty of the new Cleveland Six are conceded by everyone. This advertisement will convince you that the car is as fine mechanically as it is in appearance.

THE most important mechanical unit in any car is the motor. The Cleveland Six exclusive motor, built in its own shops, is the culmination of six years intensive effort. In design and in details it is as fine a piece of engineering as will be found under the hood of any car.

Power with flexibility, durability and efficiency, are the qualities that make the Cleveland Six motor the most highly refined of the overhead-valve type. The motor is so designed that it actually develops 38 per cent of its 45 horse-power at twenty miles per hour. Few motors develop more than forty per cent of their power at this speed.

The Cleveland Six gives more power when you need power most (for quick acceleration, hill climbing, or for the long hard pull) than is obtainable in most other motors.

Power With Economy

THE remarkable fuel economy of the Cleveland Six is largely due to the unique straight-line manifold which is cast integral with the cylinder head. Gas travels the shortest possible distance from carburetor to cylinders and as the manifold is evenly heated throughout its entire length, condensation is eliminated at all points in its travel.

This feature insures quick starting, complete combustion and means high power with economy, at all speeds. It also reduces carbon deposit, which is further minimized by completely machining the combustion chambers to a smooth finish.

Balanced Pistons of New Design

LIGHT WEIGHT pistons are of the latest design and all six machined to the same exact weight. Conventional design has been improved by the addition of three V-shaped grooves which have a wiping action on the down-strokes to prevent oil from working past the three rings to foul the spark plugs and form carbon.

Silent Valves That Never Stick

IN the Cleveland Six the admitted advantage and efficiency of overhead valve design is advanced to its highest point. Valves and stems are completely surrounded by water and being evenly cooled from all sides they can not warp and stick. They are actuated by double springs insuring quickness and eliminating clatter or vibration.

The valve lifters are fitted with large, accurately ground rollers, and the entire valve mechanism, including rocker shaft, rocker arms, valve stems, etc., is completely enclosed and thoroughly lubricated by wicks through which oil is fed from two large cups on the top of the engine.

All Motor Parts Easily Accessible

THE Cleveland Six motor is built to freedom of attention and the least necessity for adjustment. Lubrication has been made positive at all points. The silent chain drive for camshaft and pump can be adjusted from the outside of the motor case. The crank case can be drained by a lever under the hood.

Quietness, smoothness, absence of vibration at all speeds, quick pick-up, and plentiful power are combined with very slow depreciation and long life.

Your Cleveland Six will be an efficient, economical, mechanically excellent car even after many seasons use—because it is built to last.
